

From: Peter Gent
Sent: Fri, 18 Feb 2022 13:10:13 -0700
To: Peter Gent
Subject: Crossbills from CO July 2021

From: Info FiRN <info@finchnetwork.org>
Sent: Wednesday, November 17, 2021 9:18 PM
To: Tim Spahr <tspahr44@gmail.com>
Cc: Christian Nunes <pajaroboy@hotmail.com>
Subject: Re: Crossbills from CO July 2021

Yeah, sorry for the delay, but yeah Tim and I had talked about these a couple days ago and yes Cassia Crossbills. Congrats.

A write up is a good idea.

Matt

On Wed, Nov 17, 2021 at 7:46 PM Tim Spahr <tspahr44@gmail.com> wrote:

Hi Christian, this is big news. These have to be Cassia Crossbills (!!) as you suggested. Fantastic, and definitely a bit odd. But given the fires in the South Hills, maybe it makes some sense? There was, after all, a Yellow-eyed Junco in Kansas a couple falls ago...

I think it would be neat to do a little writeup on this sighting. Matt--what do you think?

Congrats!!

Tim

On Tue, Nov 9, 2021 at 11:45 PM Christian Nunes <pajaroboy@hotmail.com> wrote:

Matt and Tim,

Could you put your expert eyes and ears to the crossbill calls in these recordings?

<https://ebird.org/checklist/S91855481>

This small group of crossbills was foraging in Lodgepole Pines in Grand County, Colorado. The pines has both fresh green cones and older, open brown cones. I thought they were Type 5 in the field, but now I'm not quite sure based on the sonograms. They look a bit like Cassia Crossbill.

Cheers,

Christian